

Beacon Funding Corporation is Better Business Bureau Accredited With an A+ Rating

Northbrook, IL, February 10, 2010 — Beacon Funding resolved to increase the level of client and partner confidence by becoming a Better Business Bureau (BBB) Accredited Business. The BBB is a nonprofit organization that exists so consumers and businesses have an unbiased resource to guide them on issues of trust in the marketplace. Businesses that meet the high standards set by the BBB are invited to apply for accreditation.

“Beacon Funding was founded with the goal of providing equipment financing programs to under-served small businesses. Being a BBB Accredited Business signifies a renewed pledge of trust and reliability to those businesses. It is another way we can show that treating our clients honestly and ethically is a primary goal of our company,” said founder and CEO Sam Oliva, “We pride ourselves in having the highest rating possible, A+.”

If a business has been accredited by the BBB, it also means the BBB has determined that the business has pledged to make a good faith effort to resolve any consumer complaints. In addition to the accreditation, Beacon Funding earned the Better Business Bureau Complaint Free honor for 2009. Read more about these Accreditation Standards online at the Better Business Bureau website.

“We look forward to using the tools the Better Business Bureau provides to maintain an open dialogue with business owners applying for equipment financing,” added Oliva.
